Linda Jacopetti has joined Parkside Lending LLC, a national wholesale and correspondent lender, as senior vice president of government operations to support the company's growing government lending programs.

In this position, Jacopetti will direct the operations and execution of Parkside's government lending, beginning with its current Federal Housing Administration program and the upcoming rollout of the Veterans Affairs program.

With over 25 years of experience, Jacopetti's background includes underwriting, processing, closing, sales, compliance, development of new processes and technology solutions, and launching new loan programs. Most recently, she ran the government program at Bank of America, and prior to that, she spent six years at Countrywide Home Loans growing its government lending channel.
